

Convention housing can be a huge headache. So many details to be tracked – availability, room and rate types, special requests, and additional room occupants. It seems that everyone changes their mind at the last minute.

Housing+ is designed to simplify the process so that all necessary information is always available. The hotel is calling for an updated rooming list? No problem!

Online Reservation Requests

From the internet...

HousingWeb hosts each convention on its own web page, allowing the attendees to fill in the information for you.

Each hosted convention can have its own customized information.

Attendees can request their top three choices of hotel and room type.

All information is validated for completeness and validity before reservation request is accepted.

Hosted on a secure server and all credit card information is encrypted.

Automatically downloads new reservations and updates availability information on the Web as often as you want.

... into Housing+

Reservations from the web are automatically imported into Housing+.

HousingWeb identifies potential problem reservations so that you can easily reserve a different hotel or approve over-booking.

Strong security and encryption assure that attendee data is safe.

Built in audit features checks that all reservations have been received and will recover any that were not successfully downloaded.
